Depot To Start Hiring Civilians Next Spring

More Than 3,500 To Be Employed

Tobyhanna—Hiring of civilian personnel for the $33,000,000 U. S. Signal Corps depot here, the largest of its kind in the world, is expected to get under way next Spring.

Maj. Thomas E. Morrison, Signal Corps officer who was one of the first persons to report to the huge site, explained yesterday that employment will be between 3,500 and 5,000.

About 35 Signal Corps officers are expected to be assigned to the depot to serve in a supervisory capacity. Major Morrison pointed out that at Sacramento, Calif., currently the largest depot of the Signal Corps, there are 28 officers on duty and the station here will surpass, in size, the California area.

Other depots are located in Lexington, Ky., Decatur, Ill. and Baltimore, Md.

It is highly possible, Major Morrison said, that once the four warehouses now under construction are completed (the date set being Feb. 1, 1953 for the last structure 200 feet by 1200 feet) the Signal Corps could order equipment sent here for storage and work could begin immediately. However, he added, the probability of such a move is limited but once the heating equipment is installed, full-scale operations are expected. Civilian personnel will be recruited from the immediate area.

Full operations will be underway by the Spring of 1954, as indicated in a statement yesterday by Lt. Col. Charles S. Tucker, resident engineer. An official dedicatory program is expected to precede the commencement of full-time employment and operations.

Action Asked Against Union

Washington, AP—A Senate inquiry committee called on the Justice Department yesterday to consider perjury action against leaders of a 65,000-member union described as dominated by "agents of the Kremlin."

Senate investigators said the union employed "goon squads" and other terrorist methods in preying on its victims.

The Senate internal security subcommittee, headed by Sen. McCarran D-Nev., said the union's three top leaders had been identified in sworn testimony as members of the Communist party but nevertheless signed non-Communist affidavits under the requirements of the Taft-Hartley Act.

The union is the Independent Distributive, Processing and Office Workers of America. Its New York headquarters said all the officers were absent at a meeting and no comment was available.

The subcommittee's report named the union's officers as Arthur Osman of New York, president; James Durkin, secretary-treasurer; and Donald Henderson, administrative director.

Besides asking the Justice Department to weigh perjury charges, the subcommittee called for tightening the law to prevent Communists from holding union offices.

Sleeping Sickness Deaths Total 37

San Francisco, AP—Thirty-seven persons have died in California from sleeping sickness (encephalitis) this Summer, the State Department of Health reported yesterday, but the total number of reported cases has fallen. New figures represent an increase of four deaths in a week.

The department said the reported case total since June 1 has fallen to 597. It was once well above 600. The drop was caused by findings that suspected cases really weren't the mosquito-borne disease.

Sabre Jets Destroy 12 Red Planes

Seoul, AP—Sabre jet pilots in blazing air battles yesterday reported their second greatest victory of the war, downing 12 MIGs and damaging three.

Waves of swift Red MIGs—their total number was undisclosed—attacked with unusual aggressiveness despite their severe losses. At least one Sabre failed to return.

The battle was waged in the skies high over Northwest Korea. The Sabres shielded swarms of fighter-bombers which raked supply dumps all the way from the front to Pyongyang, North Korea capital.

From the series of melees emerged the 19th jet ace of the Korean War—Maj. Frederick C. Blease, 31, Phoenix, Ariz. He bagged his fifth MIG. He also has three damage claims.

Allies Call New Recess

Munson, Korea, AP—The chief Allied negotiator told the North Koreans in effect yesterday they were "mere puppets of alien Communist rulers" and voiced a suspicion the Reds were using the talks to camouflage "your real purpose to continue the conflict."

Maj. Gen. William K. Harrison fired a whole barrage of verbal artillery before walking out the door at Panmunjom for another one-week recess, which he demanded and got.

"If this suspicion ultimately proves to be true," Harrison said, "the world will have discovered once again and beyond any doubt the futility of attempting to negotiate with Communists on any reasonable and honorable grounds."

The Peiping radio immediately accused Harrison of "threatening an extension of bacterial war against North Korea."

Police Discover Human Skeletons

Munich, Germany, AP—German police yesterday reported the discovery near here of five human skeletons, possibly those of American soldiers killed in World War Two.

The police said a bullet hole was found in the base of each skull, but they would not comment on the possibility that the five were victims of wartime atrocity slayings. Headquarters of the U.S. Army in Europe at Heidelberg said it was investigating.

Number Of Registered Voters Is Near All-Time County High

Voting registration last night was nudging the county's 1936 all-time numerical high of 17,558.

The total last night, reported by Registration Clerk Grace Scheller, is 17,477—just 81 persons short of the record.

However, this numerical figure represents only 83 per cent of the county's potential voters this year—estimated at 20,960.

It's likely the 1936 numerical record will be broken by Sept. 13, the last day of registration for 1952.

But 1936 was also the year of a record 96 per cent registration of all potential voters. Unless a civic miracle occurs before Sept. 13 this record will remain untouched.

In fact it looks at present as though registration this year will be only the fifth highest, percentage-wise, in the last six general elections.

The highs were: 89 per cent in 1928 and 1932; 96 per cent in 1936, and 88 per cent in 1940.

A bright spot in the registration picture is that this year's 83 per cent (so far) reverses the downward trend which has taken place since 1936.

The per cents of potential voters who registered in recent general election years, starting with 1936, are: 96 per cent; 88 per cent; 72 per cent; 69 per cent.

There has been a sizeable increase in registration since the figures were added up at the commissioners' office March 1 this year. The total then was 16,379.

By last night another 1,098 persons had registered, to bring the total to the 17,477 figure.

This total also represents a net increase of 370 over 1951. However, the population is also somewhat larger than last year.

Of the 1,098 registered since March 1, about 420—more than a third—have signed up during the eight special registrations held during the last two weeks.

The special registration last night in East Stroudsburg was the last in the "cross-county" tour. Clerks signed up 29 Democrats, 23 Republicans and one independent.

This brought the special registration break-down to: Republican, 209; Democrat, 206; independent, five.

Clerks will continue to register voters during regular business hours at the commissioners' office in the court house until Sept. 13 at 5 p.m.

Ike May Carry Florida, Says Gov. Smathers

Springfield, AP—Senator George A. Smathers of Florida yesterday called Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's hard-hitting Dixie campaign "a matter of concern" to the Democrats. And he said the GOP presidential nominee may carry Florida in November.

Smathers expressed the views to newsmen after a lengthy conference with Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois, the Democratic candidate for the White House.

The Florida Democrat said he had urged Stevenson to campaign in Florida, and added that the governor promised to try to fit such a trip into his schedule.

Smathers' conference with the governor came shortly after Stevenson's headquarters announced he will hit back at the Republican "it's time for a change" argument in opening a nine-state Western tour with a major speech in Denver tonight. (The speech will be broadcast and televised at 9 p.m.).

Stevenson's campaign manager, Wilson Wyatt, made the announcement at a news conference, where he also declared the Stevenson camp is not worried about the impact of Eisenhower's two-day campaign in the South this week.

Smathers declared, however, that Eisenhower made "a big impression" with speeches in Georgia, Florida, Alabama and Arkansas, and that the response the general got to sharp criticism of the Truman administration "certainly means he's got some strength" in the Democratic stronghold.

Smathers said he will support Stevenson for the presidency. "I'm not in disagreement with the governor and the party platform on certain issues."

In reply to questions, Smathers based some of those issues as Stevenson's advocacy of repeal of the Taft-Hartley labor law, his position favoring federal title to oil-rich coastal lands, and his call for a change in Senate rules to make it easier to limit the debate.

Smathers also mentioned the controversial civil rights issue as one on which he does not see eye to eye with Stevenson in every respect.

In his prepared statement, the Florida senator called Stevenson "a man of great courage and independence," and added:

"From his conversation, I concluded that he will vigorously clean house; that he will strive for a government that has equal respect for the rights and claims of all our citizens, regardless of their economic status, geographic location, national origin or religious affiliation."

Wyatt, in outlining plans for Stevenson's Western tour, said the itinerary calls for a nine-day swing, 11 formal speeches and eight whistle stop talks.

Sforza, Italy's Former Foreign Minister, Dies

Rome, AP—Count Carlo Sforza, Italy's foreign minister in the treaty-signing periods that followed two great World Wars, died last night.

He would have been 79 years old on Sept. 25.

He was a scion of a noble and wealthy Italian family and had a political career that extended over half a century.

Falling health compelled him last year to give up the Foreign Ministry portfolio he had held since 1947. While he held it he had the task of signing Italy's peace treaty as representative of a defeated nation.

Washington, AP—Pittsburgh Mayor David Lawrence told reporters yesterday that he has asked President Truman to speak at Scranton if the President decides to make a swing through the East in October.

Red Cross Calls For Blood Donors

There is a desperate need for volunteer blood donors to the American Red Cross blood donor campaign today at the Elks Home. Quota is 277 pints. Volunteers should report between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Monroe County missed the bloodmobile last month when a scheduled visit was cancelled because of mechanical difficulties.

That means the quota is actually for two months today. The blood is not only supplied to civilians here who need any amount or type, but its most vital need is in Korean war zone.

That need is more critical than ever because there has been a general falling off in receipt of blood all over the nation during the past summer months.

Report today between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. at the Elks Home.

HST Sets Up Immigration Commission

Washington, AP—President Truman yesterday set up a special commission "to study and evaluate the immigration and naturalization policies of the United States."

In a statement, he linked his action with the passage over his veto of the McCarran-Walter Act which codified and revised the immigration and naturalization laws. Sponsored by Sen. McCarran (D-Nev.) and Rep. Walter (D-Pa), it was enacted by Congress in its recent session.

Truman vetoed it on grounds the law discriminated against certain races and prevented proper handling of the displaced persons.

He asked at the time that Congress create a special group to study this field, but nothing was done. Truman said in his statement yesterday that he was moving to get the study he sought.

The seven-member commission is headed by former Solicitor General Philip B. Perlman. The vice chairman is Earl G. Harrison, Pennsylvania lawyer and former U. S. commissioner of immigration and naturalization.

Red Issues Plea

Paris, AP—A Communist call to Frenchmen of all political hues to unite to crush American influence and smash Premier Antoine Pinay's government was broadcast yesterday by acting Red leader Jacques Duclos.

'Let's Get Going,' Eisenhower Pleads At Spirited Rally

Philadelphia, AP—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower appealed to Americans everywhere last night to join in a 10-point "crusade" to save freedom and win a peace he said is jeopardized by administration bunglers.

And point No. 1—outstanding above all others, the Republican presidential nominee declared—is to get rid of "little men" now in power, to sweep out of office an administration he said has "bungled us perilously close to World War III."

To a wall-bulging crowd of 17,500 at a party rally here in Convention Hall, and to a nationwide radio and television audience, Eisenhower said his is "a cause for every American."

"Well, then, let's get going," he urged.

As Eisenhower ticked it off, his program for peace embraces economic and military strength for this country, and help for other lands that want to live in freedom—but help "only by peaceful means."

At the same time he said his plan rejects imperialism or aggression on the part of America. But he warned Russia there will be no isolationism or appeasement.

"We can save freedom," the GOP candidate said, "by making the cause of freedom a crusade."

It was a pulsing, cheering, applauding crowd that heard him. It filled all of some 16,000 seats in the big hall where the 1948 political conventions met. It flowed over its aisles, corridors and the streets outside. Reporters had to fight their way in, past a string of uniformed paraders carrying torches.

Police Inspector Herbert P. Kitchman said the crowd in the hall was 17,500. And he estimated another 250,000 had greeted the campaigning general as he came to Philadelphia and toured across the city in a bid for Pennsylvania's 32 electoral votes.

He visited Independence Hall and conferred with state political leaders and managed to find time for a nap before driving to Convention Hall for his speech last night.

Gov. John Fine of Pennsylvania introduced Eisenhower last night. He said "we formally open the great American crusade to recapture the American way of life."

Impatiently the people set up a "We Want Ike" clamor. They got him, at 9:37 p.m.—seven minutes after the nationwide radio and television broadcast began.

Gov. Fine tried to silence the uproar to save broadcast time for the speech. He succeeded in something like two minutes.

The general started his speech, offering what he said were "clear, positive goals," for peace in place of "patchwork, crazy quilt operations."

Eisenhower put plenty of emphasis into one short sentence: "We shall never be truculent—but we shall never appease."

The crowd whooped approval. "Peace can be won," but not under an administration that he said has "bungled" the job so far.

Let's sweep the "little men" out of Washington, he proposed.

"The first step toward winning a peace that we can trust," Eisenhower said, "is to establish in Washington an administration which we ourselves can trust. We will win this battle for peace only after we have won the battle of Washington."

On that basis, the general said there is only one issue in this campaign: "That issue is 'the mess in Washington.'"

With the cleaning out at Washington as a starter, the general went on to list nine more steps he proposes as a guarantee of enduring peace:

One—Establishing in Washington "a government that puts its trust in the people. Mistakes, he said, will not be doctored up to look like triumphs; no "curtain of evasion, of suppression, or of double talk" will be erected.

Two—Setting "clear and positive goals." The minimum goal, he said, must be to make sure there can be no move to threaten the nation's security, economy and peace—and that "immediately destroys any idea of isolationism."

Three—Binding allies to us in mutual terms of "enlightened self interest." Allies in Europe, South America, the Middle East, Asia and Africa, are necessary for survival of our system, Eisenhower said. But it must be made crystal clear, the general added "that there is no such thing as American imperialism, that there can be no such thing as American aggression against any country."

Four—Aiding by peaceful means, "but only by peaceful means," the right to live in freedom. That appeared to be aimed at reassuring European countries which felt Eisenhower hinted at warlike steps.

Five—Providing "unwavering support of the United Nations."

Six—Making America economically strong, "growing in productive strength." But that, Eisenhower said, requires a "wholly new climate in Washington," and an administration "which refuses to put its trust in the self-approved directives of a self-satisfied bureaucracy."

Seven—Guaranteeing that this country will be "strong militarily" while striving toward "general disarmament."

Eight—Using such other means as the power of truth, "able diplomacy."

Nine—Routing out of government "those who would betray our system or abuse our confidence."

And to that final point, Eisenhower linked a promise to fight discrimination, economic inequity, poverty, insecurity and "every social ill."

"Only the losing of a modern war could be more disastrous than winning it," said the man who led Allied forces to victory in Europe in World War II.

"The one—the only—way to win World War III is to prevent it."

"The program I have outlined this evening is not a program for waging such a war; it is a program for preventing such a war."

Furthermore, the general pledged, there will be in his administration a working partnership with Congress, "statesmanship instead of partisanship."

Why on earth did the Pfeiffers buy P.P.&L. Stock!

It's really quite interesting! The Pfeiffers, you see, had saved some money.

That, of course, is not uncommon in America.

But in lots of other countries you can't acquire savings. For the average citizen there is no job to pay you more than a mere living wage. Or else government takes away all but enough for bare necessities. Should you somehow get a little money together, then you really have a problem.

You might spend your meager savings for an extra bite to eat...or a second pair of clumsy shoes. You might hide your tiny hoard in the hope of escape some day. About the only way you can put savings to work is in the black market. None of these is very safe...for in many countries even the suspicion of savings may cost you your life.

But in America, by work and thrift, we can accumulate something extra. Here in America we can use it as we please. One of our special privileges is to put our savings to work so that we can profit from them, and some time enjoy a little larger share of the future. We can use savings to buy a home or life insurance, or to invest in savings bonds. Or we can start a little business of our own. Or we can join a number of other people and become shareowners in a larger business.

We Americans early in our history learned to organize our productive

Mr. and Mrs. Paul O. Pfeiffer of Columbia, Pa., with their daughter Melanie, aged 3. Mr. Pfeiffer, service manager for a local automobile agency, and his wife became Pennsylvania Power & Light Company's 75,000th shareowner through their recent purchase of PP&L stock.

The Pfeiffers, during their three-day tour of PP&L's service area to mark the new record in widespread ownership of the company, inspect part of the property of which they are now part-owners.

ability better than any other people. We early found that many worthwhile and necessary tasks could be done only on a larger scale than a single individual could undertake.

We found that by putting together the imagination, the ingenuity and the money of numbers of people we could produce more and better things for more people, and make them cheaper than ever before. In this fashion, and to do a more productive job, the American form of business corporation came into being.

The Pfeiffers, already home owners and insurance policy holders, have used their savings to join a number of other people in just such an American business venture.

Through thrift and initiative, they are building a little bigger share of the future... especially for little Melanie.

There are many names for this philosophy. You can call it Free Enterprise, Opportunity, Democracy, or Capitalism, if you want. But whatever the name, we all owe it much. For our most valuable natural resource lies in the ambition and initiative of Americans, like the Pfeiffers.

So it is not a question of why on earth did Pfeiffers buy PP&L stock.

It's more the fact that... thank our lucky stars...there is a place on earth where people still have the right to put savings to work, to acquire property, and to benefit from their thrift.

East Stroudsburg Schools Enroll 1341 Pupils First Day; Stroudsburg Figure Set At 1368

School enrollments were on the upswing in both East Stroudsburg and Stroudsburg borough elementary and high schools yesterday.

First-day enrollments at East Stroudsburg schools showed a preliminary total of 1341 children.

Of this total 446 were enrolled in the elementary grades housed at the main school building on N. Courtland St., while another 215 enrolled at the training school operated by East Stroudsburg State Teachers College as a part of the borough school system.

Junior High enrollment in the East Stroudsburg was listed as an unofficial 355.

There were 325 students signed up in the Senior High school as of yesterday afternoon.

Supervising Principal Carl T. Secor said yesterday that the rolls would grow even larger on Monday. There was no definite indication of how large the increase might be, however.

Where East Stroudsburg authorities noticed the largest rise in enrollment was in the first grade section of the system.

Yesterday's rolls showed a total of 139 first graders enrolled for the year during the first day of school—100 at the N. Courtland building and another 39 at the training school.

This figure is definitely expected to increase on Monday when a comparatively large portion of latecomers will be signed up for the first time.

Additional enrollments are expected, also, in the Junior and Senior High Schools.

Total enrollment at Stroudsburg borough schools yesterday stood at 1368 for the first day.

Additional enrollments are also expected there today and Monday.

By schools, the enrollment splits up this way in Stroudsburg:

Ramsey school—323; Morey school—265; Morey kindergarten—53; Stroudsburg High and Junior High School—727.

The figure for Ramsey school listed above includes the kindergarten enrollment since Ramsey has sufficient room for its pre-first-graders.

Morey school kindergarten pupils, however, are being housed in the YMCA building on Main St. since the school does not have sufficient space for them in its home building.

Addition of the kindergarten pupils housed at the YMCA to the announced total for Morey brings the school total up to 318, just five short of the Ramsey total.

Both Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg school authorities have been confronted with larger enrollments than they had anticipated in the lower grades.

East Stroudsburg, for example, will inaugurate a new first grade class beginning Monday as a result of the increase in pupils in that grade.

Stroudsburg elementary officials were forced to expand their kindergarten program when it became apparent that the enrollment would exceed expectations.

Combined total for the two schools shows 2709 children enrolled in the two borough systems thus far in the new school year.

Reporter On School Beat Writes Impressions, Observations On Opening Day Of New Term

By Leonard Randolph

The teacher had a worried look—like the man who has just been told he is the father of triplets. Standing in the hallway he watched the tall, disjointed young men hurtling from door to door; the slender, pony-tailed girls in pastel sweaters and neat skirts checking their schedule cards.

Every once in a while it seemed as though no one knew where he was supposed to go.

Then—as though a miracle had suddenly descended through the cool, dimly-lit corridors—the young men and women disappeared into the daylight-squares which led to classrooms.

With a slight shrug, the teacher crossed to a water fountain near the doorway. Leaning over, he held his left hand firmly across his chest to keep the firmly-placed tie away from the fountain and took a thoughtful drink of water.

It was the first day of school—and, for the first day, it hadn't gone badly.

For the first time in three months the building seemed to be alive.

A bell split through the cloistered interior and the halls were sprawling with activity again. Alive was hardly the word for it...

Looking at the book, flattened out on his desk, the boy wondered just how interested he was supposed to be in all this.

It wasn't that he didn't enjoy reading—he did. But there were just some things he enjoyed reading more than others.

Like science-fiction, for instance. Outside there was always someplace to go, something to do, somebody to talk to. Inside, all you could do was listen.

During the summer he'd had a job—worked with a lot of other guys. A good job, too. Now he was back in a classroom—just another kid.

What was the teacher talking about? Oh, yeah—"One of the purposes of this class will be..." Didn't sound like a bad idea, at that. And the girl up in front seemed to be mightily interested in what the teacher was saying. Not bad, either, for that matter. Nice looking girl.

Might not be such a bad class after all...

The girl with the brown hair and the print blouse skidded to a stop in front of the principal's door. "Hi," she said. The remark was directed at a second girl, a little taller, with a sheer blouse and brown skirt who was standing just inside the door.

"Whew!" the second girl said. "What a day this has been."

"Yeah."

There was no one in the office, so the two girls sat down to wait for the receptionist to come back in. "Gosh, I hope we don't have a term paper in that class."

"Oh, those things!" Her voice was heavy with contempt. "Dad thinks I ought to take economics."

Final Phase Construction Scheduled

Tobyhanna—The Defense Department announced this week the scheduling of the final phase of construction for the $33,000,000 U. S. Signal Corps depot here. Contracts are expected to be awarded for the last stage before June 30, 1953.

The final allocation of $2,753,000 is included in the $33,000,000 appropriation. Lt. Col. Charles S. Tucker, resident engineer at the project here, said yesterday. A railroad engine house is included in the concluding steps, as well as utilities and small warehouses.

Col. Tucker said equipment already is arriving at the depot for installation of heating facilities. The contract for this phase has been awarded Combustion Engineering and Supply Heating, Inc., of New York City for their bid of $346,545. While there are no employees of the heating firm on location yet, the arrival of equipment is a preceding factor, Col. Tucker said.

Merritt, Chapman and Scott, assigned to the third phase of construction, already have started foundations for many small structures which will eventually dot the area. Col. Tucker said all foundations for the depot should be completed by this November, since work during the Winter months is prohibited in this category.

He also disclosed all steel to be used in construction will be at the depot by November so work can continue through the Winter months.

One of the final operations, Col. Tucker said, will be the enclosing of about 350 acres, and eventually the entire area of 500 acres. When equipment begins to arrive for storage it is expected the area will be restricted to visitors.

At present there are about 1,100 workers at the depot site, Col. Tucker said. The peak of about 2,000 employees is expected by Sept. 30.

Two of the largest buildings, the administration and operations structures, already have been mapped out and foundations are underway. In the former building which will cover about two acres, 15 percent of the foundation is in, Col. Tucker said. In the larger building for operations, about 75 percent of the concrete footings have been laid. This building, when finished, will cover about 17 acres.

Car Hits Tree; Two Boys Hurt

Stormville — Two Stroudsburg High School students were injured yesterday on the way to school when their car struck a tree here and slid down an embankment at 7 a.m.

Paul Voepel, 16, Stroudsburg RD1, the driver, told Pfc. Emil Weber of the Stroudsburg station that he was going around a curve and that when he tried to straighten out, the steering mechanism "felt funny." The car went out of control, struck the tree at the side of Legislative Route 165, and slid down the bank.

Voepel suffered a nose injury, and a younger passenger Walter Shafer, 12, Stroudsburg RD1, suffered a broken right leg. Both were taken to the General Hospital in East Stroudsburg. Voepel was treated and released, while Shafer was admitted.

Damage to the car was estimated at $200.

Proof on Film

Drunken driving, one of the greatest of traffic hazards and one of the most difficult charges to prove, is the target of an experiment which Rochester, N. Y., police hope will prove escape-proof for those caught in the future.

The Rochester experiment is simple. The police will be equipped with motion-picture camera and color film, to be used whenever a motorist is suspected of driving a car while intoxicated. The films are expected to fortify evidence against the drivers.

Getting sound evidence against drunken drivers always has been a formidable problem for arresting officers. The motion pictures should plug at least one of the loopholes through which drivers too frequently escape.

Certainly, anything that will help to control and reduce the hazard of drunken driving is worth the most careful attention of authorities everywhere. We shall watch the Rochester experiment with intense interest.

Turkey Talk $$$

We are going to have 59 million turkeys this year—more than we've ever had before—and Mr. Charles F. Brannan, the Agriculture Secretary, sounds as happy about it as though he had hatched them all himself.

In the old days, those who like to eat turkey would have been able to share the Secretary's joy, because lots of turkeys would have meant low prices in the stores.

That sort of thing isn't allowed any more. It would result in what the Agriculture Department calls "unfavorable prices for producers," and in an election year at that. To avoid such a calamity, the last Congress appropriated money for Mr. Brannan to use to "encourage consumption of agricultural commodities by diverting surplus quantities from normal channels of trade."

So Mr. Brannan has proclaimed a "turkey purchase program," the taxpayers' money will do the purchasing, and school lunches and "eligible public institutions" will get the turkey.

Meanwhile, the Reconstruction Finance Corp. another government agency, has contributed its bit to the joyful confusion. It has granted a $100,000 loan to a firm in North Carolina to expand its turkey-processing plant.

Since we've got to help pay for the turkeys anyway, it is nice to know little Johnny will have it often in his lunches at school this winter.

The problem is, what to tell him when he asks why we don't have it at home.

Reputation

Down in Uruguay, they are considering a law under which no person "with a good reputation" may be evicted for non-payment of rent.

Landlords, we presume, will not be permitted to testify as character witnesses.

The man who first skied in the United States was a Norwegian called "Snowshoe Thompson," employed after the gold rush to carry mail across the mountains in winter.

My New York

—By Mel Heimer

New York—Every man has at least a half-dozen points in his life if he lives long enough, but I am of a mood today to feel that my big one came one damp night a year ago this month when I sat with a friend of mine under the auction tent at Saratoga Springs and bid $1,400 for a filly and then heard somebody else bid $1,500.

The bidding didn't stop there—I think the filly went for $2,700 or $2,800, somewhere around there, because she was a get of Devil Diver, Greenleaf's old stake horse—but I just wanted to show you how close a man could come to destroying his life just by opening his mouth. Or, in this case, nodding his head when the auctioneer rattled off, "Do I hear fourteen hundred?"

When we got back to the old Grand Union hotel after the auction that night, my life as a horse owner had ended before it began. I had played Russian roulette and won. However, my friend, like novelist Graham Greene, who actually did hold the gun to his head in his youth and pull the trigger, with a live cartridge somewhere in the barrel, had the urge to go back and play again. So he did.

Before you knew it, he had a horse.

My friend's name is Fred Papert and he is no dope. He is a college graduate, a jovial and valuable addition to dinner parties and one of the best advertising copywriters in New York. He has a desk in one of the world's biggest agencies and immediately and swiftly can tell a soap manufacturer just what he should tell the public about his soap so as to triple sales.

I don't think Papert ever rode a horse in his life, but the first time he ever saw a race track full of thoroughbreds he just walked up to the rail to look at them. $3,000 maidens, half of them destined for the glue factory—and promptly fell in love with each and every one of them. There was only one logical end to this kind of going-on, naturally, and last this spring F. S. Papert resolved it. He bought a horse.

The name of F. S. Papert's horse is The Wench. She is a big, gangly, nervously handsome soul with feet like a puppy police dog, and the first time she ran under the colors of F. S. Papert (gray and white diamonds) she went off at 38 to 1 or thereabouts and she ran second, paying something outlandish like $17 and change to place.

Papert does not bet and he did not have a dime on his filly but I talked with him on the telephone that night and he was making strange, incoherent remarks about getting this fabulous beast ready for the Jockey Club Gold Cup or the Santa Anita Handicap. There was about him that night, with terrible finality, the air of a man who would not die happy unless he had bred a Derby winner.

Well, what I am getting at is the strange, depressing change The Wench has wrought in F. S. Papert. She has turned him into a fling Lardner-type alibi like.

Several subsequent races of this animal's indicated she was some-what removed from the handicapper's division. I guess you might say, conservatively, that she ran lousy. Now Papert has been, to now, a man with clear perspective. However, when I went up to him recently and said something about how it was too bad he bought a lemon, he just looked at me belligerently.

"This filly," he said coldly, "has been unlucky."

This filly has been as unlucky as Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt being born into $20 million, but I let him talk. He explained away one of her unimpressive efforts by

HOW TO BECOME A FAMOUS AUTHOR

Looking At Life —by Erich Brandeis

Now—please don't all you girls come running to New York.

The town is full enough without you, but, on the other hand, if you have your heart set on giving the town a whirl, here are a few facts on it.

And if you insist on coming and don't succeed here, there is always another plane, train or bus going back to your home.

According to a survey just made, there is a terrific shortage of secretaries in Manhattan.

Thirty-five jobs or more await every girl coming out of a business school, no matter where.

Employees offer as high as $65 a week to beginners and still they can't get them.

For beginners at filing, typing and similar work the rate is up to $50 a week with hardly any takers.

Business firms are offering all sorts of inducements to get girls but with very little effect.

One advertisement for a secretary gave as an inducement saying she was virtually left at the post.

Another time she was not over-fond of mud. Still another time she was pinched back when making her move between horses at the far turn.

In a very big racing career under the old gray and white diamonds, this filly had encountered every one of the thousand bits of bad racing luck that horsemen say can lose an engagement for a beast. I reminded F. S. Papert of one race in which she couldn't possibly have had bad luck.

"That was six furlongs," he said, defensively. "She didn't like the distance."

The Wench was going the next day in a six-furlong race. How about that, I asked F. S. Papert.

"I think she likes the distance, now," he said, meditatively.

So here is a good, normal man going around with the bug in him good, now, looking at the big gentle-eyed galloping glump as if she were carved out of palladium and telling his acquaintances each time she runs, well, with a little break when they spring the barrier, we should handle this field all right, and then giving with the routine when the event is complete.

These Days -- By George E. Sokolsky

Who Protects Leftists?

During the Tydings Committee investigation into subversives and how they manage to get into critical places where they can affect, if not dominate, the day-by-day handling of our foreign policy, particularly the expenditures of our money, curious things happened. Some of them looked as though Senator Tydings himself were doing some protecting and that is why he was defeated for re-election in Maryland.

One case is that of Theodore Geiger, once an employee of the State Department and subsequently an important assistant to Paul G. Hoffman at the ECA. Counsel for the Republican members of the Tydings Committee, Robert Morris, stated to the Committee:

"There is a case of a man named Theodore Geiger. He has been an employee of the State Department. He is now one of Paul Hoffman's top assistants. He is doing work that is quasi-state department in character. I have . . . gotten some witnesses together who will testify that he was a member of the same Communist Party unit as they were, and I think we would be deluged if in the face of this evidence that is now on record . . ."

To this, Tydings replied: "Turn it over to the FBI or do something else with it . . . We don't want to waste this afternoon."

In spite of this colloquy and with no further investigation, Geiger remained in a high position in Paul G. Hoffman's organization. However, the McCarran Committee reviewed the inquiry. The subject for consideration was the Communist cell at Columbia University. The following is pertinent to Theodore Geiger, Paul Hoffman's assistant:

"Senator Ferguson . . . Do you know any other Communist in your cell or that you knew up in these colleges that came down in the Government, the United States Government?"

"(William Martin) Canning. There was one other who belonged to the same Columbia University unit, Theodore Geiger."

"Senator Ferguson. Was he a Communist?"

"Mr. Canning. Yes, he was . . ."

"Senator Ferguson. Where did you know him?"

"Mr. Canning. I knew him both at City College where he was a student, and later at Columbia University where he continued his graduate studies."

"Senator Ferguson. About when did he leave there?"

"Mr. Canning. I think he finished at City College. He received his bachelor's degree in 1935."

"Senator Ferguson. Where did he come in the Government?"

"Mr. Canning. Into the Economie Cooperation Administration.

"Senator Ferguson. Do you know whether he is in Government now?"

"Mr. Canning. No I have been informed that he has resigned."

"Senator Ferguson. When?"

"Mr. Canning. Not a very long time ago, several months ago . . ."

"Senator Ferguson. What was his position in Government?"

"Mr. Canning. He was, I believe, Deputy Administrator to the ECA, though I am not certain of his exact title."

"Senator Ferguson. That is the same man that you know in Columbia as a Communist?"

"Mr. Canning. Yes, sir."

"Senator Ferguson. Was he active in Communism?"

"Mr. Canning. He was."

"Senator Ferguson. As active as you and Finkelstein?"

"Mr. Canning. Not quite as active as I was."

There is one other reference to Theodore Geiger in the McCarran Committee testimony. Moses Finley is being examined.

He says that he is a teacher at Rutgers University and that he is operating under a grant from the Ford Foundation of which Paul Hoffman is now the head.

To avoid confusion, it must be noted that Moses Finley is the Finkelstein referred to above in the Canning testimony. He had altered his name. This is the testimony concerning Geiger:

"Mr. Morris. Did you ever meet Mr. Theodore Geiger?"

"Mr. Finley. Yes."

"Mr. Morris. Did Mr. Geiger ever attend a meeting at your house?"

"Mr. Finley. Yes."

"Senator Watkins. Do you know any Communists?"

"Mr. Finley. I must decline to answer on the grounds previously stated."

I do not know what Theodore Geiger is doing today or where he is. It is curious, however, that Paul G. Hoffman, who is now a bigshot Republican politician and who has about $25,000,000 of Henry Ford's money to spend each year, should select assistants after attention had been called to Communist affiliations. Also, the elder Henry Ford surely never intended that his money be employed to support persons who will not testify fully before a Congressional committee.

Try And Stop Me

Two ancients in Israel were bemoaning the hardships of living in the new republic. "What we should do," proposed Semish, "is declare war on the United States. The Once Over

The Room Of Rooms

United Nations has just announced that following the temporary chapel at Lake Success, a permanent prayer room is being completed in the new East River skyscraper.

This is THE room . . . This is the chapel, the mosque, the synagogue and the temple. Above and below are corridors, chambers and offices bustling with activities of the representatives of many governments and peoples, but here is the uplifting peace and quiet of all the altars of the earth. Here is no hostility kindled, no anger fed. Here is the light in the darkness, the beacon in the gale.

Loud voices, tirades of hatred, torrents of vituperation come from without, but, in this small chamber, men sit in silent meditation or kneel in prayer. Here Bible, Koran and Talmud are as one healing medium; here all the prayers of mankind may rise in one all-important supplication.

Here John Jones, Tony Esposito, Nick Papadopolis, Bill Smith, Wing Foo, Shamus Kelly, Fritz Hofenberger, Jake Goldberg, Pierre Batreaux and Pezzer-Eli-Kim can gather in one mood and for one purpose.

The gods of all men move in this chapel; in the shadows walk the ghosts of the builders of civilization and the mothers who through the ages have given their men to die on bloody hill-sides and in redoubt ravines. Upstairs and downstairs are great figures of the earth, makers of policy, framers of plans, architects of new ideas; but here are the saints and the martyrs, the apostles, the prophets, and the divinities of all religions.

Acrobats fill this great building; there are voices of hate and figures of disaster; but in this small room there is the peace of Holy Night. The top delegates of countless nations bicker in this chamber are the shepherds and the Wise Men.

Mighty men of great fame speak loudly and lengthily within the walls of this towering edifice, but in this little room sit the Good Samaritan and Joseph of Arimathea. Disturbing utterances fill the building, but here is heard the cry of a Babe in a manger. The Lord God of Hosts is here, in some concept of all religions.

A great building, this U. N., towering to the skies and constructed of rock and granite and brick and marble . . . but this is a room built of faith, hope and charity. Five thousand doors and windows, mark this structure, but in this prayer room alone are to be found the guiding light, the straight pathway and the gate of triumph.

Here are no boundaries, no frontiers. Here bitterness shrivels before the cleansing influence of "Thy Kingdom come" in the many forms of many creeds. In this skyscraper are many slogans, many messages, many keynotes and many symbols but within this quiet room are the words of words. And I heard a great voice out of heaven saying, "Behold, the tabernacle of God is with men, and He will dwell with them, and they shall be His people . . . And God shall wipe away all tears, and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow nor crying." This is the room!

Delegate To Democratic Convention Cites Drawbacks Of National Presidential Primary

Rotarians of the Stroudsburg met at the Penn-Stroud yesterday to hear a talk by Harold Edwards, an unaffiliated delegate to the Democratic National Convention in Chicago last month.

Edwards described the primary fight when he found himself unexpectedly opposed by a Northampton County resident in violation of an agreement which both political parties are to be allowed one delegate from either Carbon or Monroe Counties to offset the excess population in Northampton districts.

The Stroudsburg attorney described the activities which preceded the convention's selection of Gov. Adlai Stevenson as the party standard-bearer in this year's general election.

When he first arrived in Chicago, Edwards said, he visited the campaign headquarters set up by the various candidates for the nomination.

Least pretentious of all these HQ's, the attorney noted, was that set up by Stevenson's boosters—two rooms in the Hotel Stevens, with a staff of two young people on hand.

After a visit to the Illinois governor's "headquarters," Edwards said, "I was convinced that he would not refuse a draft, although he would not campaign for the nomination in any way."

A preliminary poll of the Pennsylvania delegation during the opening hours of the convention, Edwards pointed out, gave an indication of Steven's secondary strength when the governor polled "35 to 38" of the delegates while Kefauver had support from about 20 of the State's 70 representatives.

This first indication led to the appointment of Ex-Sen. Francis Myer as floor chairman for the "draft Stevenson" movement.

Kefauver's strength, Edwards said, was largely over-estimated since the Tennessee senator was "only on 14 state ballots out of a possible 48" and, in some cases, "was running against himself."

The major accomplishment at the Democratic convention, the Stroudsburg attorney declared, was the preservation of unity in the ranks of the party.

This was brought about primarily through the voting on the controversial seating of Southern delegates.

"Lots of people," Edwards said, "thought if they don't want to go along with us, let's vote 'em out. We didn't go along with that."

they were Democrats and delegates and they had a right to be there."

Since coming home, Edwards said, he had heard comments from a lot of people on the time-consuming "polling of delegations" at the convention.

One explanation for this, he felt, was that "television was a new thing" and "lots of delegates wanted to be seen on TV back home."

The right of any individual delegate to challenge the accuracy of the chairman's report, however, is a valuable thing, in Edwards' opinion.

It offers a safeguard and an additional guarantee of accuracy, he said. In the future, the delegate commented, such polls may be made by an assistant teller in the privacy of the delegation itself while the remainder of the state are being called on the roll.

This would save a lot of time, he noted, and would still insure accuracy of the poll.

Edwards minimized the democratic effect of a nationwide "presidential primary" in which the party's candidate would be selected by direct vote.

One of the major drawbacks to this method, Edwards said, would be that only a "millionaire" or a man "with a lot of money behind him" could hope to get the nomination since all 48 states would have to be covered by a campaign.

If the Democratic party wins the November election, Edwards is confident that Pennsylvania Rep. Francis E. Walter and Ex-Sen. Francis Myer will have important parts to play in Washington since both men were instrumental in setting up the party platform, settling the dispute over Southern delegations and drawing support toward the Stevenson handwagon movement.

Annual Fair At Reading Opens Sunday

Reading—Today is moving day for officials of the Reading Fair. For the women and men who direct the activities of this annual exposition, the big show begins today. By noon, all of the administrative offices will be set up on the fairground in Muhlenberg Township.

Ever since last week, concessionaires and exhibitors have been moving into their quarters on the grounds and the tempo will greatly increase today. By tomorrow night, the fairground will be a city of twinkling lights with the aroma of hot dogs and hamburgers already in the air. The fair formally opens Sunday.

John S. Giles, president, and Charles W. Swager, secretary, after a tour of the grounds yesterday declared "everything in perfect condition" for the eight-day and seven-night fair. Preview visitors to the exposition already have plenty to see.

Dozens of harness horses are already getting daily workouts; workmen are putting the finishing touches to buildings; commercial exhibitors have most of their displays in place and many midway concessionaires are adding decorative touches to their stands.

Livestock of all description will start streaming into the fairground tomorrow with the big push taking place tomorrow night. Giles and Swager predicted that 95 percent of the exhibits will be in place by Sunday morning.

The first formal program of this year's fair takes place Sunday afternoon at 2:30 when an automobile and motorcycle thrill show will be presented by the Jack Kochman Hell Drivers. At night, one of the biggest grandstand stage shows in history will be presented.

The attractions will include appearances of Dagmar, the curvaceous television star, and Miss America of 1953, who will be selected in Atlantic City Saturday. This is the first time in Reading Fair history that a Miss America will be here.

Supervisors Invited To C. D. Meeting

The chief of Civil Defense police services for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania requested yesterday that all township supervisors of Monroe County make a special effort to attend the Auxiliary Police meeting, scheduled for the courthouse, Stroudsburg next Wednesday at 8 p.m.

Capt. Emmett J. Donovan, who leads all Civil Defense police in this state, will attend the meeting. He emphasized that only through cooperation of these supervisors can an effective emergency force be gained.

In view of limited administrative facilities, Monroe County Civil Defense office announced that invitations to all supervisors would not be sent. They requested other Civil Defense officials to make an effort to have them attend the meeting. Local newspapers and Radio Station WVPO are being asked to cooperate in publicizing the meeting.

All police chiefs of Monroe County, Civil Defense officials and constables have already been requested to attend the meeting, at which time a recruiting drive and training effort will be inaugurated.

Civil Defense headquarters emphasized that some localities have already made emergency appointments, although not nearly enough appointments have been made to afford adequate emergency protection.

Stroudsburg Record,
Stroudsburg, Pa.

Dear Mr. Olwyler:

My husband and I were very much interested in your recent article in the Record regarding why people have not registered to vote in the election this fall.

We wrote to the Registration Clerk in Stroudsburg, Miss Grace C. Scheller, and she informed us that September 13 was the last date to register, but Pennsylvania did not have an absentee ballot. As we work in a hotel here in New York State which does not close until September 21, we of course are unable to return for registration.

We are property owners in Cresco, Pennsylvania, having built a home on Laurel Pine Road over a year ago, and lived there the year round until this spring. It does not seem fair that we should not be given an opportunity to have the privilege of voting, and I should think that some arrangement would be made for an absentee proxy or ballot.

We are only two. I realize, but there are many, many other people all over the country, and no doubt in Pennsylvania, who are in the same position as ourselves. Hotel workers, salesmen who travel, theatre people and countless others who would like to vote, but can't due to stupid laws. I am not speaking of those who are in the "don't care" class, but the true American citizens who earnestly wish to have a voice in the political affairs so vital to this country of ours, and particularly at this time of unrest and turmoil.

It would seem to me that the men who represent us in the State of Pennsylvania, and who are in a position to change laws, should make every effort possible to assist the voters and keep pace with our modern times. In fact, they should make it so easy for people to vote that there would be no plausible excuse for anyone to say that he did not vote.

If there is any possible way that we may register by proxy or otherwise, we are most anxious to do so.

Sincerely,
Mrs. R. B. Zoelisch

Truck, Car In Collision

Brodheads — Damage estimated at $100 resulted at 1:45 a.m. yesterday in the collision of a car and truck on Route 115 about eight miles north of here.

State police of the local station said damage was to the car operated by Vincent J. Sease of West Nanticoke who crashed into the left rear wheel of a truck operated by Richard L. Obert, DuShore, driving south. Sease told police he swerved to avoid hitting a car driven by Arthur J. Dorshimer, Effort, who was attempting to pass the truck. Sears Roebuck To Observe Sixty-Sixth Anniversary

Nine veteran employees of the local Wyckoff-Sears retail store will unite with other clerks and office personnel to observe the 66th anniversary of Sears Roebuck and Co. from Thursday, Sept. 11 to Saturday, Sept. 20.

Henry Kresge, manager of Sears' local outlet has been with the chain 20 years. Others of long standing service are Chester A. Dreher, salesman, 17; W. John Pennington, rug department manager, 11; James A. Somers, assistant manager, 16; Clifford Hauser, plumbing sales; Horace Argot, farm store manager, 12; James Detrick, hardware department manager, 11; Marie Winder, audit manager, 9; and J. Allison Everitt, receiving manager, 7 years.

"Our store here is joining its more than 670 sister stores in the nation-wide Sears family in holding this nine-day event," Kresge explained.

This year not only marks Sears' 66th year in business but also the 27th anniversary of the company's entry into the retail field and 20th anniversary of Sears location in Stroudsburg.

A special sale is being arranged, Kresge said. Competition among thousands of Sears employees across the nation will result in the eventual awarding of 1300 major presentations for achievement, Kresge noted.

In addition to the national rivalry, Wyckoff-Sears employees here have planned intra-store competition based on the election year theme. Employees will be divided into two "sales parties," each with its own "sales planks." The campaign will continue during the week with the winning party determined on basis of sales rather than the conventional ballots.

Harold Leininger, druggist at the Stroudsburg Rea and Derick store for the past 14 years, will assume a new post as buyer for Hess Bros., Allentown, beginning Sept. 15.

The popular druggist said he resigned his position to Rea and Derick officials last month after serving with the chain for 17 years. Three years previous to leaving here he was with the

Born in Trenton, Leininger received his basic education in Pottsville and matriculated at Philadelphia College of Pharmacy and Science, graduating in 1934.

He resides with his wife and two children, Carol Ann and Marcia Lynn, at 824 Scott St.

In concluding his affiliation in this area Leininger expressed his appreciation for the cooperation given by his patrons.

New store hours will be started Monday, Sept. 15, at the J. C. Penney Co. store in Stroudsburg. Max Stadfeld, manager, said yesterday the store will open at 9:30 a.m. and close at 5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, Saturdays the store will open at 9 a.m. and close at 9 p.m.

Previously store hours during the week were from 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

Stadfeld said the purpose of the change is to allow more time during the employees' 40-hour week to give individual and group training, in order to better serve the customer.

R. C. Cramer Lumber Company's new Gunnison home at 98 Maple Ave., East Stroudsburg, will be open for public inspection all next week.

Monday through Friday the new home will be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and on Saturday from 9 a.m. until noon.

The following will observe birthdays this week: Miss Emma Meitzler, Henry Beers, Fern Christman, Willard Young, Robert Berger.

Adventists' Grade School Begins Term

The Stroudsburg Seventh-day Adventist Elementary School, Second St., opened its doors Tuesday morning with a record enrollment, reports Miss Marilyn Miller, teacher.

The local school, owned and operated by the local Adventist Church, has been conducted in the borough now for more than 30 years.

The teacher of the school conducts the eight grades in one room.

The school is one of 3,764 educational institutions operated by the denomination all over the world, with an enrollment of 170,295 students. Of this number 3,474 are elementary schools, with an enrollment last year of 141,463 students.

Adventists are unique among Protestant churches in having an extensive system of schools of all grades, which enables the children and youth of the denomination to obtain a complete education from kindergarten through graduate and professional levels.

In the United States the church operated 885 elementary schools, 71 secondary schools, 12 colleges, a medical school, a theological seminary, a correspondence school, 16 nursing schools, a school for dietetics and schools of medical technology and physical therapy.

Believing that this extensive school system is one of the major factors in the growth and strength of the church, members last year invested over $15,000,000 in Christian education in the U.S. alone.

Beginning with a single school enrolling 50 students in 1872, the Adventist educational system has grown out of a belief in the importance of religious education and at the same time a strong conviction that religious instruction in public schools violates the principle of separation of church and state as set forth in the Constitution.

Pottery To Be Exhibited

MT. POCONO — The Village Weavers Gift Shop here will be the scene of a demonstration of the making, decorating and firing of Pennsylvania Dutch Pottery. It will take place here at the junction of routes 611-615-196 in Mt. Pocono, Sept. 5 and 6 from 2 to 8 p.m.

Miss Marion L. Grider of Allentown, Pa., who has taught this craft for many years in the YMCA and Jewish Community Center of her city, will demonstrate the various operations required to turn out this increasingly popular type of pottery. The designs used have a history which dates back several centuries to the time this group emigrated to Lancaster, Berks and other counties in eastern Pennsylvania.

On display at the same time will be more than one hundred different pieces such as plates, platters, mugs, ash trays, wedding anniversary and birth plates as well as occasional pieces. The exhibit will also include a display of reproductions of authentic china doll heads of the 'gay nineties' era. Many of these heads have been made into dolls which are dressed in the fashions of the past.

An invitation is extended to all to visit this exhibit.

Reporter Notes Happenings On Opening of School Term

"Oh, no, Not that!"

The first girl nodded. "I talked to the teacher. Nice." Some secret laughter passed between them. "But I didn't care much for the book."

For a moment neither of the girls said anything and the clock hanging on the wall filled the room with its strict, methodical counting.

"We have to take four days of gym a week," the brunette said. "I don't see why they can't make it two days of gym and two of hygiene."

The door from the corridor swung open and the two girls swung around, lips clamped together, hands clutching the cards which regimented their days at the school.

One of the three boys was big for his age.

If he hadn't been in the school building he might have passed for a soldier home on leave, wearing civvies for the first time in months. His wind-burned, sun-tanned face was twisted in an openly perplexed grin.

"Hey!" he yelled at a passing teacher. "Where're they signa' up for junior varsity?"

There's nothing quite like fresh paint to make a building smell new—and uninhabited.

As he walked down toward the auditorium the teacher looked at the faces again.

All around him, from all sides, the faces appeared. Some of them were new to him—most of them he'd seen before.

Some of them looked familiar only because they resembled a brother or a sister who had been here two years ago, ten years ago, twenty . . .

Maybe that was one of the great things about the public school. Everything was constantly changing—there was always something new.

Maybe not the routine—that had to stay basically the same—but the faces changed every year and the personality of the classes.

Even the rooms looked different at the beginning of the year.

And for them—the faces belonging to kids he'd never seen before—there was a lot of change in store. They might not realize it or recognize it when it happened but the change would come just the same—subtly and gradually.

And in the end maturity would replace sophistication; knowledge would supersede naivete. It was a great thing; this learning business—the biggest business in the world.

And whether they knew it or not—they were all going to benefit by it—when the last bell had rung.

Neal-LeBar Wedding At E.S. Church

The wedding of Miss Roseley C. LeBar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elwood LeBar, of 276 Normal St., to Allen S. Neal, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Neal, of Saylorsburg at the East Stroudsburg Methodist Church on September 1, at 2 o'clock was followed by a picturesque reception and dance for more than 80 guests at the Legion Home afterward.

Rev. Harold C. Eaton performed the double ring ceremony, and Miss Helen Inninger presided at the console of the organ. Baskets of white gladioli at the front of the church formed the background for the wedding party.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an ankle-length gown of white nylon net over a strapless tulle dress. Her veil was held by a tiara of white mother-of-pearl flowers with white rhinestone centers, and was finger tip length. She wore matching lace mitts, and carried a colonial bouquet of white roses, white carnations and white gladioli.

Miss Betty Avery of Sixth St., East Stroudsburg, was the maid of honor and wore a dress of solid blue, with a matching picture hat and lace mitts. She carried a colonial bouquet of white and deep pink carnations and white gladioli. The bridesmaid, Miss Lila Neal of Saylorsburg, wore an orchid pink dress with matching picture hat and mitts and carried a colonial bouquet of yellow mums and yellow gladioli.

Lloyd Neal, of Saylorsburg, was best man, and the ushers were Robert Barringer of Stroudsburg RD 2 and Lloyd Aumick, of New Ark, N. J.

The bride's mother wore a brown gabardine suit with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations. The bridegroom's mother wore a white print dress with white accessories.

Following the wedding, a reception for 80 guests was held at the American Legion Home, East Stroudsburg, where a canopy of pink and white formed the decorations. The bride and groom were driven to the reception in a car furnished by William Western. Edwood LeBar's Western Band furnished the music for the reception.

For traveling, the bride chose a navy blue suit with red accessories and a corsage of white carnations. After the wedding trip, Mrs. Neal will remain with her parents for the present. Mr. Neal is in the U. S. Army, stationed in Massachusetts. The bride was graduated in the class of 1950 from East Stroudsburg High School and the bridegroom in 1949 from Stroudsburg High School.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

One of the most tender first-day-of-school stories I've heard in many a year happened yesterday up at the Ramsey School when Miss Frances Everitt arrived to confront still another generation of first-graders.

Such babies they are, still apt to suck their thumbs under stress which, somehow, she must metamorphose into boys and girls whose hands have learned to turn the magic key of reading and writing that can unlock all knowledge.

She faced them with the same enthusiasm and deep affection she always has, because she couldn't do otherwise—but there have been so many first days of school—just how many she wasn't quite certain.

That is, until the florist's box arrived with the two huge orchids and a note—

"Good morning," it said. "On this first day of school of your 30th year of teaching," signed "From some of your very first pupils"—and then their names.

Names that still call up in her mind those young faces she met when as a mere youngster herself fresh from graduation at the college, and shaking in her boots at the responsibility ahead she stood before her class 30 years ago.

Oh, we all remember our first teacher but how many of us have ever done anything so thoughtful. We sent a card on her retirement, perhaps—but this is so much nicer.

Though Fran taught yesterday through a blur of happy tears, I'm betting this whole year is going to be secure in the knowledge that even time does not dim the gratitude and love which a really good teacher leaves in the hearts of those she teaches.

Own Blindness Helps Visitor In Helping Others

Delaware Water Gap—One of the village's summer residents, Miss Louise Hamrah, who spent the Labor Day weekend there, has carved out a successful career despite the fact that she lost her sight when she was 12 years old, or perhaps because of it.

She was graduated from Brooklyn College and took special courses at the University of Pennsylvania and the Overbrook School for Blind in Mt. Airy. After two years of teaching the blind in their homes, Miss Hamrah is now director of social service of the Catholic Guild for the Blind, in Brooklyn, N. Y.

She does both field and case work, although the greater part of her time is given over to office interviews. In these she counsels on personal, family and employment problems of the blind and teaches Braille.

She enjoys acting in amateur plays and uses the ticking of various size watches at different places on the stage to guide her movements.

She was accompanied to the Gap by her niece Arlene, and her mother, Mrs. Alex Hamrah.

Other guests at the Hamrah home have included Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Ganin and family of Cincinnati, Ohio, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lian and daughter, of New York. Mrs. Lian is the former Clair Hamrah, and Mr. Lian is known as the "Potato King of Washington Market."

Joint Birthday For Weidman's

Portland — A joint birthday party for David and Stephany Weidman, son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Weidman Jr., of Main St., was held Saturday afternoon on the lawn at the Weidman home. Games were played and gifts received by both.

Yesterday was Harvest Home at Wyckoff's for me. Stopping in the children's department to look around, I found two dresses for my five year old, bearing Fruit of the Loom labels, and selling at only $2.98 and $1.98. Peaches like that don't grow on every tree.

New styles are arriving in all our departments now, and from the State-and-Pencil set right through to Grandmother, designs, fabrics, and colors are smarter and more flattering than ever before. If this sounds familiar, it's probably because I said it last spring. And I meant it then too. It doesn't seem possible that the death of an English king would have any effect on a secretary in New York or a switchboard operator in Duluth, does it? But the fact remains that if a young queen named Elizabeth had not revived our interest in a long-ago queen named Elizabeth, who delighted in wearing huge, starched neck ruffs, gems the size of bird's eggs, and vibrant regal colors, the fashion picture for fall would doubtless be quite different.

Once again we are going to wear purple. We will concentrate on rich, warm fabrics, lavish laces and trims, huge jewels, and pendants the size of saucers. Edna Harmon tells me that some of the new brooches and lavalieres being shown are enormously large, and Wyckoff's already is displaying rhinestone clusters more dazzling than those of last year.

While talking fashions, I'd like to mention our millinery window which is, to my way of thinking, one of the loveliest I've ever seen. Small velvet and feather hats, against a background of fall leaves. And the rich purple that belongs mutually this season to those listed in the Almanac de Gotha and the Telephone directory, is shown not only in headgear, but in the stopper of a Yardley perfume bottle, the pattern of a scarf, and a corsage of violets. It being my favorite color, I hereby vote in favor of hereafter spelling it "purr-ple."

Even father will be different this year. More about him in later columns. But, on the spur of the moment, I would like to say that the Spur of the moment is a $1.50 necktie of solid color with just a tiny touch of embroidery in the center. Father can wear tiny ducks, sculler and crossbones, animal heads or geometric designs. But, if Mother has her way, his choice will probably be the handsome crest that marks him as fitting consort for a queen.

Eagles, IAM Advance In Gold Medal

Clash In Final Round Next Week

Eagles and IAM marched into the final round of the Gold Medal Softball Tournament yesterday, with respective victories over Tru-Matic and Kulp's Foundry. The final series will begin next week.

The Eagles stretched their winning streak to 31 straight games by taking the measure of Tru-Matic, 13-2, at the East Stroudsburg Junior High School field, while IAM reached the final round by shading Kulp's Foundry, 8-6, at Stroudsburg Playground.

Tru-Matic was never able to cope with the Eagles' power, as the charges of Manager Gail Fegley scored at least one run in every inning to win with ease. The Eagles tallied four times in the first frame and the outcome of the contest was never in doubt.

Warren "Mag" Loney and Fegley led the winning attack with four hits each, while the club batted Tru-Matic pitching for 27 safeties.

Fegley, Henry "Hank" Stetler and Joel Hahn divided the pitching for the Eagles and limited Tru-Matic to eight safeties.

Four Runs

Four runs in the bottom of the sixth round enabled IAM to come from behind and take the measure of Kulp's Foundry.

Kulp's club had constructed a 4-0 advantage at the end of one and one-half innings, but the score was deadlocked at 4-4 at the end of the fourth round. Kulp's nine came up with two more in the fifth to take the lead, only to fall before IAM's sixth round sport.

IAM made only eight hits to 10 for Kulp's Foundry, and made six errors to four for the losing team, but IAM bunched its hits enough to walk off with the favorable decision.

The winner of the championship series, to be judged on the best-two-out-of-three basis will receive a large trophy, while the runnerup will receive a smaller trophy.

Philadelphia (AP) — Gil McDougald led an old fashioned New York Yankees power display with two home runs and five RBIs last night as the world champions routed little Bobby Shantz and the Philadelphia Athletics 12 to 2, and played 3 1/2 games ahead of Cleveland in the American League pennant race.

Big Chief Willie Reynolds picked up his 17th victory against eight defeats as he scattered eight hits, striking out five and walking three. The Yankees made the right-hander's job easy with a big seventh inning in which 11 men batted and seven runs scored.

Third Straight

This marked the third straight time Shantz failed in his quest for his 23rd victory and the second time in less than a week that the Mighty Mite has been knocked out. He gave up 12 hits and 11 earned runs in 6 2/3 innings, making a total of 21 runs he has given up in his last three games. It was the sixth defeat for Bobby, who hasn't won since Aug. 22 when he shut out the St. Louis Browns. New York...020 003 700—12 13 0 Philadelphia 000 100 100—2 8 1

Senators Edge Red Sox, 4-2

Washington (AP) — Washington won its fifth straight game while dealing the Boston Red Sox their sixth successive defeat, 4-2, last night behind the eight-hit pitching of Bob Porterfield, who registered his 12th victory.

Porterfield pitched a complete game, allowing only two runs, both earned, in the first and second innings. He struck out four and walked three. The Senators made the right-hander's job easy with a big seventh inning in which 11 men batted and seven runs scored.

Aussie Kid Surprises Top U.S. Favorite

Forrest Hills (AP) — Ken Rosewall, a 17-year-old Australian kid with one of the finest tennis brains ever turned out, made his first appearance in the American championship, this country's top-ranked player, Vic Seixas of Philadelphia in a thrilling fourth round match before 10,000 cheering fans.

In producing the first major upset of the title event and severely scrambling America's immediate tennis future, the dark-haired 135-pounder from Sydney displayed a remarkable all-court game for which neither the crowd nor Seixas was fully prepared. The scores were 3-7, 6-2, 7-5, 5-7, 6-3.

Not Quite

Seixas, a member of the last American Davis Cup team and, until yesterday, at least, an outstanding candidate to help challenge the Aussies again next winter, played to the limit of his ability every point of the way. But he could never reach the net consistently against the sharp-shooting kid from down under and so met defeat.

T. E. Robinson, one of Australia's Davis Cup selectors who witnessed Rosewall's triumph, said immediately after the match that "this means Ken comes into the cup picture right away. In my opinion, he played a really great match today."

In today's quarter-final round the amazing youngster, who, like all the other Australian stars, works for a sports equipment firm, will face a famous American player more than twice his age, 38-year-old Gardner Mulloy of Miami, Fla.

If Rosewall plays again as he did yesterday he is a chinch to reach tomorrow's semi-finals. Mulloy advanced yesterday over Philippe Washer of Belgium, 9-7, 6-1, 6-3.

Plans Listed For Playoff Contests

Moscow — League officials and team managers met here at the American Legion club last night to plan for the post-season playoffs, that will start a week from Sunday.

The first and third and second and fourth clubs will meet in a best two-out-of-three series, on fields to be named in the near future.

Final Round

However, the final round will be decided on a one-game basis. Newfoundland, who finished in a three-way tie for first place, has been listed for third place in the final standings, with Daleville and Tobyhanna to settle first and second place at Daleville on Sunday, beginning at 2 p.m.

Two protests lodged earlier in the season were turned down at the meeting.

Braves Finally Nip Dodgers

Boston (AP) — After taking 14 drubbings from the Brooklyn Dodgers, the Boston Braves gained their first 1952 victory over the National League leaders last night with a hard-earned 6-5 decision in 11 innings. Sid Gordon's two-out single against reliever Joe Black drove in Johnny Logan with the deciding run.

Max Surkont held the Dodgers to six hits while the Tribesmen totaled 14 against three hurlers.

British Amateur Champ Frowns On Pro Career

Harvie Ward may have been eliminated from the Waite Memorial Tournament at Shawnee-on-Delaware, but the British Amateur Champion never lost his pleasing personality as this inquisitive reporter mixed a helping of questions with his roast beef and potatoes during a late dinner at the Penn-Stroud Hotel last night.

Ward, decked out with a large "Ike" button and that smile that the blond youthful looking golfer has made famous in recent years, shook his head as he recalled the broadside of birdies shot at Lyn Creason, Harrisburg, and himself during the second round of play at Shawnee yesterday, by Billy Haverstick, Lancaster, and Jack Best, Fresh Meadows, N. Y. The putting exhibition by Best was particularly hard to forget, as the graduate of the University of North Carolina replayed the day's hectic match hole by hole, while dining with Mr. and Mrs. Marty Baldwin.

Chip shots that found the hole, long curling putts and the other fine shots of the day returned again and again for Ward's consideration, although the match many hours previously had passed into history.

Harvie, 26-years of age, has been playing the game of golf for 14 years, but doesn't care to ever turn the game into a profession.

When queried along this line, Ward pointed out that he plays golf only for the joy that he gets out of it. However, if he were to turn professional, he is afraid that he would lose that joy and instead would use the game only to earn a dollar. Although he plays in many parts of the world each year, he does it only for

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

Kunkletown plans a benefit baseball game for Earl Ziegenfuss, pitcher who suffered two broken fingers, when he attempted to get out of the way of a pitch by Ray Steele when Bushkill and Kunkletown clashed in a regular Pocono Mountains League contest recently. Ziegenfuss managed to ward off some of the speed of the ball before it struck him in the head by putting up his hand. However, in so doing the right handed chucker suffered two broken fingers and lost about a month's work. A collection will be taken for the injured member and proceeds from the refreshment stand will also be presented to Earl as a gift from the club.

The 1952 flag is the second straight pennant won by Kunkletown. The charges of Manager Clarence Smith took both the regular season and playoff championships last year. Harold Sisco, well known in Monroe County baseball and softball circles, was one of the interested spectators at last Saturday's Old Timer's Day celebration at Yankee Stadium. George Sentinella, who played with the Stroudsburg Poconos in 1950, is now a member of the Sampson Air Force Base baseball team.

George recently hit a home run against the Rolling Air Force Base, as his club scored a 7-3 victory. Dr. Evan C. Reese was among the many lucky diamond fans who were able to procure tickets for last night's game between the Philadelphia A's and New York Yankees at Shibe Park. Dr. Reese made up for the rained out game he had seats for last week. Mansfield, who plays East Stroudsburg State Teachers College in football on Saturday, October 11, at ESSTC, has had 31 men at its pre-season drills, with 21 being of a veteran caliber.

Bangor's class "B" Bowling League is scheduled to open the present campaign next Tuesday, at the State Belt alleys. Harold White, who is counted upon for a fine future in both football and baseball at East Stroudsburg High, isn't going to transfer to Stroudsburg High as reported. Dick Emanuel is all up in the air, as his favorite Philadelphia A's make their first even mildly serious bid for a pennant in many years.

Bob Staph, The Daily Record correspondent in the Newfoundland area, says the Yankees will win six pennants in 16 years. Bob also suggests that Johnny Ray, the famous box singer, do a few measures of "Cry" for the Cleveland Indians, who had protested a recent game in St. Louis that was stopped in the sixth inning with the Indians ahead, 4-2, only to have the final score revert to the end of the fifth, when the Browns failed to bat in the sixth. The St. Louis club won 2-1 when the score was reverted.

Dick Owens, Gary Emanuel and Jack Harmon, all former basketball stars at Stroudsburg High School, keep in close touch with the game 12 months a year, and currently are playing exhibitions in this and surrounding areas. Owens is a student at Susquehanna University, while Emanuel and Harmon are attending Penn State. Billy Long, former infielder with the Stroudsburg Poconos and Bangor Slaters, when the North Atlantic League was in operation, has returned from Tarboro, N. C., where he piloted that club to seventh place in the Coastal Plain League.

Talk of Little League and Little Bigger League baseball for next season is being heard in the Tannersville area at this time and there seems to be plenty of interest in both projects. Rev. Ernest Campbell still holds hopes for his Giants in the National League flag race, but the story will really be told this weekend, when the Giants receive their final chance against the front running Brooklyn Dodgers.

Indians Gain Important Nod Over Tigers Behind Garcia, 2-0

Cleveland, (AP)—Big Mike Garcia pitched a five-hit shutout in a tight hurling duel yesterday as the pennant-seeking Cleveland Indians defeated the Detroit Tigers 2-0. Southpaw Bill Wright also held the Tribe to five blows.

Giants Take Measure Of Phils In Tenth

New York, (AP)—For the second straight day, the New York Giants defeated the Philadelphia Phillies in extra innings by the same score of 4-3.

Wednesday night the teams battled 10 innings.

Winning Blow

Yesterday they went into 11 before outfielder Monte Irvin hit a single with the bases loaded and one out to fetch home the winning run for the National League champions.

The victory cut Brooklyn's league leading margin to seven and one-half games.

Of Braves Dies

Baltimore, (AP)—Charles J. "Butcher Boy" Schmidt, one of the "miracle men" of the Boston Braves team that climbed all the way out of the National League cellar on the Fourth of July to win the 1914 World Series, died yesterday.

Heart Trouble

Schmidt, 66-year-old meat dealer, collapsed suddenly as he was inspecting cattle yesterday morning at union stockyards. He weighed more than 240 and had been having trouble with his heart the past five or six years.

Outfielder To Return

Pittsburgh, (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates announced yesterday they will recall outfielder Bobby Del Greco from Toronto in the International League immediately after the end of that loop's season Sunday.

Famous Drivers To Compete In New Car Races

Stroudsburg Speedway To Feature Event

Sensational driving will be the order of the day when famous drivers from the east will take to the one-half mile dirt track in their new car chariots this Sunday at the East Stroudsburg Speedway. The green flag will be unfurled at 2:15 p.m. when the start of the race will present 200-laps of fence chopping and corner cutting.

This race will indeed be spectacular as in its 100 mile entirety it will feature many star speed demons that have won fame in wheeling their cars home to victory.

Included on the roster is Ralph Wheeler from Paterson, N.J., who is the New Jersey new car champion, driving a 1952 Ford; Billy Bachman in his '51 Kaiser hailing from Middletown, N.Y.; Harold Brookhoff "The Flying Milkman" and also 1951 dirt track champion who will pilot a '48 Ford; Burr Fuller in a '48 Nash; Ray Brown the 1950 New England driving champion, '49 Ford; George Romer '48 Ford, from Middletown, N.Y.; and Johnny Cabral of Paterson who was second in the New Jersey competition.

The biggest star in the field for the 100 mile will be Joe Romer from Middletown, N.Y. Romer has recently added the title of New York new car champion to his long list of championship titles. This boy rode to victory over one of the toughest fields of drivers and cars ever placed in a new car race. Though competition will be at its keenest this Sunday, Joe can be counted on to give one of the finest and craziest performances in driving ever to be seen on the dirt track. He is known to other drivers to be a terror on dirt especially in the tricky corners.

Many of the cars featured in the race are straight from the show rooms and will get their initial tryout in the time trials which will start at 1:00 p.m.

Browns Decision White Sox, 3-0

Chicago, (AP)—The combination of Vic Wertz' home-run blasting and Duane Pillette's sharp six-hit pitching landed the St. Louis Browns their first Comiskey Park triumph of the season yesterday with an 8-0 blanking of the Chicago White Sox.

Two Homers

Wertz slammed his 22nd and 23rd circuit wallpops, producing four runs. The first came in the opening frame with two mates aboard to put the Browns in front 3-0 and hang the defeat on starter "Chuck" Stobbs, first of four Sox flingers.

His wife gave birth yesterday to a baby boy—their fifth son. The Diethorns also are parents of two girls "cheerleaders."

Broken Finger

Kell broke the little finger of his right hand going after a line drive from the bat of Randy Gumpert, Washington pitcher, in Wednesday night's game.

Jack Fadden, trainer for the Boston team, said yesterday it is hardly likely that Kell's finger will mend in time for any more action this year. The finger is now in a splint.

Turner, Dykes Clash In Garden Tonight With Winner In Line For Return Shot At Welterweight Crown Against Cavilan

By Murray Rose
New York (AP)—Spray-punching Gil Turner and belling Bobby Dykes, a couple of youngsters with a yen to fight welterweight champion "Kid" Gavilan again, battle for the chance in Madison Square Garden tonight.

The 21-year-old Turner, beaten in his last fight by the Cuban flash, was rated a nine to five favorite to win the 10 p.m. (EDT) ten rounder which will be broadcast and telecast nationally. In New York fight winners are determined on points by two judges and the referee.

The bookies figure that the sturdy Philadelphia Negro will set too torrid a pace for the sleepy-looking, six-foot string-bean from Miami and Texas.

Gil, who suffered the first loss of his career when Gavilan stopped him in 11 rounds last July 7, says he intends to throw punches in a steady stream from the opening bell.

Dykes, who has won six in a row since he dropped a split decision to Gavilan last February, loves aggressive fighters. He is a counterpuncher with power in both hands.

Dykes is a deceiving boxer. He appears to be asleep as he glides around the ring. But he is a canny fighter who can slip punches with a slight movement of his head. And he can whip over left hooks and overhand rights with astonishing speed.

The five foot, nine and one-half inch Turner's record is 12-1 with 25 knockouts. Dykes, one of the busiest gladiators in the business, has a record of 28 victories, seven losses, five draws and 42 kayos.

He has been stopped once — by Johnny Bratton. Each will weigh around 130.

Steelers Send Ace Back To Grid Cardinals

Chicago (AP)—Halfback Joe Geri, brilliant workhorse of the Pittsburgh Steelers, yesterday was obtained by the Chicago Cardinals for a player and a "big bundle" of cash.

The National Football League deal sent tackle Lou Perry to the Steelers for whom Geri had been an all-around star for three seasons.

Failed To Report

Geri, 27, had failed to report to the Steeler training camp this season, protesting the club had slashed his reported $10,000 salary too drastically.

Walter Wolfner, Cardinals' managing director, did not disclose the sum involved, but said it was "considerable."

Area Stock Chauffeurs To Appear At Bone

Pittston, (AP)—Marv Hassler, of Stroudsburg, and Charlie Praetorius, Saylorsburg, a couple of local stock specialists, will be among the favorites for feature honors tonight when ten races are listed for Bone Stadium in Pittston. Hassler won the third qualifying heat at the Bone oval last week and appeared headed for a win in the second semi-final when rain cancelled the rest of the program.

Although Marv is way down in the club's point standings, he stands a chance of picking up a "pay-day" tonight since the biggest crowd of the year is expected. The ten-event stock show will be the largest presented at any state stock track this year.

Owner-Driver

Praetorius is an owner-driver and is listed in the 17th spot among the club's 51 drivers. He's won three semi-finals and one consolation event this year, at Bone. Hassler has topped three qualifying ten lappers and one 15-lap semi-final.

More than 51 cars have been entered for the program. The show lists three 16-lappers, two 12-lappers, three 15-lappers and two 25-car, 25-lap features.

First race tonight starts at 8:45. The track is located here in Pittston, nine miles from Scranton.

Reds Run Wild Over Pirates

Cincinnati, (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds climbed all over 18-year-old Jim Vaughn in the second inning to defeat Pittsburgh's rookie-filled lineup yesterday, 7 to 2.

Herman Wehmeier was the winning pitcher, notching his seventh victory against 11 defeats.

A crippled Cincinnati lineup — with crouching Ted Kluszewski and catcher Andy Seminick sidelined by injuries — still was too powerful for the last-place Pirates. The local boys turned six hits into six runs in the second inning, after counting once in the first.

Breeze

From then on it was a breeze as Wehmeier, having one of his good days, limited the Pirates to three hits. Two of those bingles came in the ninth, when Pittsburgh scored twice.

Ralph Kiner, home run king of the National League, went hitless in four times at bat.

The game was witnessed by 1,519 persons.

Bucs Certain To Finish Last

Cincinnati, (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates' 7-2 loss to the Cincinnati Reds yesterday mathematically eliminated any chance of climbing out of the National League cellar.

Far Back

The lowly Bucs, with only 18 more games to play, trail seventh-place Boston by 20 games. It was the Pirates' 97th defeat against 20 victories this season. Their all-time low mark was in 1917 when they dropped 103.
